RADIOLOGIC TECHNOLOGY PROGRAM
SPECIAL ADMISSIONS FOR NEIGHBOR ISLAND STUDENTS
REQUIREMENTS AND POLICIES

The purpose of this program is to assist neighbor island (outside of Oahu) radiology departments in filling manpower needs. The neighbor island special admissions category is in addition to the normal admissions process for the Radiologic Technology program at Kapiolani Community College. Applicants may not apply for admissions in both categories. Applicants in the special admissions category will only compete for positions with other neighbor island applicants who opt for special admissions. Applicants must apply for special admissions by the deadline and will only be considered in this category. The number of positions will be determined by the Program Director. Applicants must complete and agree to the following requirements to be considered for special admission into the Radiologic Technology program:

1. The common admissions requirements for the Radiologic Technology program must be satisfactorily completed.
2. Must show proof of home island residence.
3. The applicant must submit a recommendation from his/her home island affiliate radiology department clinical instructor; clinical site information to be provided by the Program Director.
4. As a student in the program, both summer rotations will be completed at the home affiliate radiology department.
5. The student agrees to return to seek employment on the student's home island immediately upon graduation.
